CURRICULAR ASPECTS

1.1 - Curriculum Design and Development

1.1.1 - Curricula developed and implemented have relevance to the local, national, regional and global developmental needs which is reflected in Programme outcomes (POs), Programme Specific Outcomes(PSOs) and Course Outcomes(COs) of the Programmes offered by the University

Mizoram University follows a policy to revise its syllabus every three years for Post Graduation programs and five years for Under Graduate programs. The Departments deliberate and decide program/ course objectives and outcomes and accordingly draft the syllabus and revise the same keeping local, regional, national and international needs and applications of the programs/ courses. While deciding objectives and outcomes of the programs/courses, and drafting the syllabus contents, the departments consider model curriculum of suggested by various regulatory bodies, like, UGC, NCTE, ICAR and AICTE etc.

IQAC, MZU collects compulsory feedback from each of the students before semester-end examination on each of the courses. The feedback is compiled and circulated among all the Departments. The departments take inputs from the feedback, while revising the syllabus next time. Courses rated below average are revised or even dropped in next revision.

Mizoram University is recognised as the forerunner in adopting the new guidelines and recommendations. The CBCS was successfully implemented in all PG course w.e.f. 2013-14 batch, while in UG w.e.f. 2015-16 batch. CBCS courses in PG were fully revised w.e.f. 2015-16 again. Further, PG courses were revised w.e.f. 2022-23 as per NEP-2020 guidelines, and UG syllabus revised w.e.f. 2023-24.

2.3 - Teaching- Learning Process

2.3.1 - Student centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem-

solving methodologies are used for enhancing learning experiences

The pedagogical practices in the different departments of the University are conducive to facilitate the students' learning experiences to new heights. Experiential learning is one regular mode of learning where students, during their fieldwork and excursions, learn through observation and interaction with the environment. Internship or placement, job shadowing programmes and practice teaching provide the actual experience of applying the very principles they learned in their classes. Such hands-on training opportunities in their field of interest provide valuable experiential learning, which contributes significantly to the students' overall understanding of the real-world environment. Students are also required to reflect upon their experiential learning through written forms or workshops and seminars. The students also participate in various extra-curricular activities in the campus and outside. (document uploaded)

3.3 - Innovation Ecosystem

3.3.1 - Institution has created an eco-system for innovations including Incubation centre and other initiatives for creation and transfer of knowledge

The University has established an Innovation Cell to serve as a platform for integrating research innovation into technology development or the creation of start-ups. The Incubation Centre has played a key role in fostering the establishment of several start-ups. For instance, the Department of Horticulture, Aromatic, and Medicinal Plants (HAMP) has initiated a small-scale start-up focused on Agro Foods.

BioNest Incubator and ALR VSLI Lab are currently operational and performing effectively. As part of a strategic policy decision, the University ensures the inclusion of at least one industry representative in both the Board of Studies and the School Board. This initiative aims to facilitate interactions between academia and industry, ultimately contributing to technology development and transfer.

Final-year students in disciplines such as Engineering and Management are actively encouraged and supported to visit industries. This serves the dual purpose of acquiring knowledge on new techniques and ideas while fostering mutual benefits. It helps students understand the specific needs of industries, enabling us to align our research accordingly. Additionally, these industry visits create opportunities for receiving funding from the industry, further promoting collaboration and innovation.

7.2 - Best Practices

7.2.1 - Describe one best practice successfully implemented by the Institution as per NAAC format provided in the Manual

Title : Regular Recruitment Process and Timely Promotion of Teaching Faculty

In order to impart quality education to the students, Mizoram University has been taking serious steps to recruit new faculty in order to ensure that vacancies are filled at the earliest. During the recent past years, the University has conducted direct recruitment and promotion of teaching faculty regularly. This helps in imparting quality education to the students as well as job satisfaction among faculty members. As a result, the success rate of students is relatively high and their satisfaction rate is also high as shown by the Student Satisfaction Survey (SSS) and feedback of students on the performance of teachers.

Mizoram University has strictly adhered to the UGC Guideline for recruitment of faculty in University and Colleges. The university has always adopted the latest UGC regulations.
